AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Electrical Illumination of Ships Was a Wonderful Spectacle

Merry Making Will Continue Four Days—Men and Officers
Warmly Welcomed.

San Diego, Calif., April 15.—Thousands of men, women and children flocked to the Coronado shore today to greet sailors coming ashore from Admiral Evans' fleet. Many of them had spent all last night on the streets celebrating the fleet's arrival in home waters. Today is the great public day of reception to the men of the fleet.
The chief event was a grand parade in which 5,000 officers, marines and blue jackets joined with twice as many other marchers and sixteen bands of music. The parade moved at 2 o'clock.
Later there were exercises at the city park and a great wild west show free to all from the fleet.

To night there will be a grand illumination of the fleet, city and harbor. The celebration will not end until Saturday when the fleet sails.

San Diego, Cal., April 15.—In four columns, with flagships leading abreast and pointing the way to the first home anchorage, the fleet has found in the southernmost end of the Western hemisphere its 16 ships of the American fleet Tuesday swept into the sheltered cove of the sea behind the towering headlands of Point Loma and halted for four days for merry making for men and officers.

Governor James N. Gillett was on hand officially to welcome the fleet, and local committees also went to the Connecticut, to tell Admiral Thomas, and through him all the men of the fleet, how glad the people of California are to see such a representation of the American navy as the "battle fleet" constitutes.

Last night Admirals Thomas, Sperry and Emery and the commanding officers and members of the various staffs were entertained at an elaborate but informal dinner at the Hotel Del Coronado. The beauty of the day's spectacle, when with flashing signals and wonderfully executed maneuvers the ships were brought to anchor in the lazy rolling Pacific, was rivaled last night, when for three hours every vessel was outlined in fire.

Thousands of incandescent bulbs were strung along deck lines, far out on the signal yardarms, up and down the huge funnels and down to the water's edge at stem and stern. In fairy-like form the ships stood out against the night, and in letters six feet high the name of each vessel was spelled across its forward bridge. The glow of the lights flooded the sea for thousands of yards away, the gleaming outlines shimmering in phantom-like reflections.

During half an hour of the period of illumination a searchlight display was made, adding insight to the wonderful effect.

During all this radiant display the old lighthouse marking the rounding point to the north—Point Loma's lonely beacon—flashed its alternating red and white signals. On shore scores of red signal fires were maintained throughout the evening as a welcome sign.

The fleet let go its anchors, splashing in the water with precision at 12:47 p. m., just 13 minutes ahead of the schedule. For two hours the ships had been in sight, and their coming has been watched with wonder by the waiting throngs. So engrossed were they in the beauty of the scene that they forgot to cheer. Never before have armadas of the Connecticut type been seen along the Pacific coast, and the occasion of their first visit is to be a memorable event. The splendid condition of the ships was manifested in every way. Outwardly they were as white as when they left Hampton Roads. Internally the ships were in better condition than when they started.

Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, commanding, was on the bridge of the Connecticut.

The absence of Admiral Evans, who is ill at Paso Robles, is deeply regretted on all sides. Admiral Thomas at the dinner referred to the matter with much feeling.

LICKING CO. MAYORS

Mr. B. I. Jones was elected mayor of Granville, the home of Demosion university, by the largest majority ever received by a Democratic candidate for that office in Granville. This fact indicates the popularity of the man, and the confidence in which he is held by the people of Granville.
Mr. Jones is a son of the late Isaiah Jones, one of the prominent residents of East Newark, and was born on the old Jones farm, in the East End.

B. I. JONES, GRANVILLE.

where the greater part of his youth was spent. He attended the Newark High school and graduated from the Iron City college of Pittsburgh in 1874. In 1876 he was married to Miss Ida Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Grove. In 1877 he removed from Newark to his farm in Etta township, and while there held the office of justice, trustee, and president of the school board. He moved to Granville 22 years ago, where he has since lived, and where his son Prof. Grove B. Jones was educated at Denison, now connected with the government bureau of soil surveys, and is at present located at Abbeyville Ala.

Mr. Jones, while in Granville, has held the position of councilman, and four years ago was elected to the board of public service. He also served two terms as county commissioner and was president of the Ohio Commissioners' Association. For 15 years he has been superintendent of the horse department for the Ohio State Fair.

MUST WAIT

Mrs. Vanderbilt Will be Kept in Suspense for Another Week Waiting for Decision.

New York, April 15.—A number of witnesses in the Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt divorce case failed to sign their evidence before the referee, David McClure, and as a result the case came to a sudden halt.

When Mrs. Vanderbilt was informed that a sudden complication had arisen in the case she is said to have prized with her attorney to bring the matter to an end one way or the other, and that at once. It was explained to her that this was impossible, and she would have to be kept in suspense a week longer.

Cleveland, O., April 15.—Two little babies of Mrs. Bella Cooper, a widow, were held at 1389 East 47th street in lieu of rent. Mrs. Cooper went out to collect some money due her in order to pay her rent. When she returned she found her door locked and all of her furniture thrown out of the windows. Just then she met the proprietor.

"Let me in; give me my babies," she cried.
"You can't get in," she says the proprietor called back to her.
Finally she slipped in. She declared that the proprietor even grabbed her and pushed her over the stairs.
She went to the police station and sawed out a warrant for assault and battery. Mrs. Cooper got her babies

SPEECH

Of Senator Foraker
Won Continued
Applause

THE GALLERIES CROWDED

The Senator Heartily Congratulated by His Colleagues

Brilliant Effort on Defense of Brownsville Troops Heard
by Many Negroes.

Washington, April 15.—Applause that smothered the pounding of the vice president's gavel attested the warmth of the reception given by the crowded galleries of the Senate to the speech of Senator Foraker yesterday in defense of the colored soldiers discharged without honor by the President because of their supposed connection with the Brownsville affair.
The day was made notable in the annals of senatorial oratory. Never in the history of the Senate have the galleries been so fully surrendered to representatives of the negro race, more than half of the crowds that filled every available seat and standing room being occupied by them.
They came early and secured the points of vantage in all the galleries except that reserved for members of the families of senators.

The senator began by saying there evidently was a misapprehension concerning his speech and he read from a newspaper clipping to the effect that he was to deliver a three-days' speech in denunciation of the president and the secretary. He laughingly disavowed his intention to do either of the things charged against him. He proceeded to read his address, his voice ringing clear throughout the chamber except that toward the end he showed slight signs of exhaustion.

The utmost silence prevailed during nearly three hours. Then his final references to the part the colored race had taken in the military service of the country called forth smothered applause and when he finished there was resounding handclapping which defied the gavel of the vice president and continued for several minutes. As the ovation ended Vice President Fairbanks made the usual announcement about the rules of the Senate forbidding demonstrations in the galleries and the tardy restoration of order called forth general laughter.

Colleagues of the Ohio—Senator crowded around him, Senator Warner whose bill for the re-enlistment of the negro soldiers, he had antagonized, being the first to grasp his hand.
One after another senators from both sides of the chamber congratulated him upon his presentation of the subject.

Toward the close of Mr. Foraker's address, the President's secretary announced a "message in writing" but the attempt to read it after Mr. Foraker concluded was made difficult because of the confusion and in rather unusual manner. It was skimmed through, so that only a bare announcement of its purpose was possible.
Senator Hale came to the rescue of the vice president who was endeavoring to restore order by a motion to adjourn.

"Before entering upon this labor," said Mr. Foraker in opening his speech, "it may not be amiss to remark, in view of the many misstate-ments that have been made, that the purpose of this investigation has not been to embarrass the president or anybody else; nor has it been to make any capital of any kind, political or otherwise, against anybody or for anybody."

He concluded with a very complimentary reference to the colored soldiers.

"They are," he said, "typical representatives of a race that has ever been loyal to America and American institutions; a race that has never raised a hostile hand against our country's flag, a race that has contributed to the nation tens of thousands of brave defenders, not one of whom has ever turned traitor or faltered in his fidelity."

"In every way in which we have permitted them to participate they have distinguished themselves for efficiency and valor. They have shed

FAMOUS BLACK MOUNTAIN GUIDE

"BIG TOM" WILSON

Asheville, N. C., April 15.—"Big Tom" Wilson, known the country over as a bear hunter, trapper and guide of the Black Mountains, is no more.

"Big Tom's" most famous feat was the finding of the body of Prof. Elisha Mitchell, for whom Mount Mitchell,
the highest peak east of the Rockies, is named. Prof. Mitchell lost his life in attempting to ascend, without a guide, the mountain that bears his name. Ten days after he disappeared, the Professor's body was found by Wilson and his companions in a stream of water, and three days later the guides carried it to the very top of the mountain for burial, but there

they were met by a delegation from Asheville conveying the request from the explorer's children that the body be brought here. Wilson, as he afterwards related, was "fightin' mad," but he allowed the delegation to have its way, and the body was buried in Asheville.

A year later, however, in 1888, at the earnest request of the mountaineers, Professor Mitchell's remains were removed to the top of Mount Mitchell.

GOV. JOHNSON VISITS CHICAGO

HAS A BUSY DAY AND MAKES A SPEECH AT THE PRESS CLUB.

Praises Bryan and States He Will Receive Many Votes in the South.

Chicago, April 15.—Governor John
A. Johnson of Minnesota, no longer with pin feathers, but a full fledged candidate for the presidential nomination at the Denver convention, spent a busy day in Chicago yesterday.

"His stick," praise for William Jennings Bryan, and the prediction that many of the Southern states would instruct for the Nebraskan; a tribute to the press and good-natured comments on his own candidacy all marked the talk of the man from Minnesota.

He also was most particular to deny in emphatic terms that he had stopped off in Chicago to have a talk with Roger C. Sullivan.

At noon the governor lunched at the Chicago Press club, where he made a speech. He referred to Henry Waterson as one "who recently has given to the country the best example of political discrimination ever known."

At the Advertisers' association he said that he was and always had been in favor of advertising. "I am engaged in advertising right now," he said. "I am advertising one of the products of Minnesota."

NEVER

Knew a Man Until She Was Twenty-
Nine Years Old

AN UNUSUAL ROMANCE

Looked on Wedlock as a Sin But Finally "Went Crazy" About Hoover

Followed Him to Philadelphia and Wooded and Married Him
In a Hurry.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 15.—Back of the marriage of Miss Adah Pratt of 1437 Irving street, Washington, to B.
Franklin Hoover, of Philadelphia, lies a story of unusual romance and interest.

Miss Pratt lived until she was 29 years of age without forming the acquaintance of a man. She was born and raised in a community of women, and taught to believe that marriage was a sin. She was bound by teaching and belief always to remain single. Then she fell in love with a man at her first introduction. More than that, she did more than half of the courtship herself.

Nearly 30 years ago in Texas, where Mrs. Hoover's mother lived at the time, a Mrs. Martha McWhirter, of Waco, announced that she had had a visitation from the Almighty and had been told that it was sinful to live with a man. Accordingly she left her husband, and, gathering about her a small party of women who were brought to her belief, went to the little town of Bilton, and there established headquarters for the new creed.

Mrs. Pratt was one of the converts to the religion, and leaving her husband she joined the colony where,
two months afterward, the present
Mrs. Hoover was born.

There were ten children in the colony, all girls. Ten years ago the commonwealth moved to Washington, taking up a farm in Montgomery county, Maryland, and a large house in the city. The children were taught to beware of men. They were never permitted to have acquaintance with any of them.

Of course they saw men. Mrs.
Hoover says she often noticed them, but she never paid any attention to any of them until she met Hoover. He left the city a few days later, coming to this city.

"I was just crazy about him," said the bride today, "so I followed him to Philadelphia and told him of my love.
He said, 'Let's get married,' and so we did. I have notified mother, but she hasn't sent any reply."

WOODEN WOMAN

REGARDED AS EMBLEM OF PUR-ITY BY CONFIRMED BACHELOR
FORMER MAYOR OF ENON.

Carried Image to Town Hall Wrapped in American Flag and Lectured on "Brighter Life."

Springfield, O., April 15.—C. T. Johnson, former mayor of Enon, this county, aged 51 years and married, lives alone at his home in the village,
with no one to keep his company excepting a wooden woman, which he carved from a log and which he regards as an emblem of purity. On one occasion he carried the wooden woman to the town hall, wrapped the American flag about the image, and gave a public lecture on "The Brighter Life," using the folds of "Old Glory" to illustrate the points brought out in his address.

Johnson was mayor of Enon until two weeks ago, when he resigned. His somewhat peculiar life developed in his own testimony yesterday at the trial of Rev. C. C. Jones, pastor of the Enon Christian church, charged with killing a robin. Johnson was the prosecuting witness. Rev. Jones claimed that he killed the robin for a boy who was thought to be dying with a fever on the request of the attending physician and with the consent of the Game Warden. The entire population of the village was in attendance at the trial.

The jury in the case of Rev. Mr.
Jones was dismissed last night, unable to agree. Nine were for acquittal.

IN TREELESS CITIES

Miles of Streets Without Foliage.
Studying the Giant Redwood.
A Stump as Ballroom.

Do you ever study trees? It is a fascinating pastime. The poet who found "tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones and good in everything" might have found books and sermons as well as tongues in the trees alone, and perhaps he did. Just try to imagine a world without trees. Even the fancy gives one a feeling of awful loneliness. Some of us go through life in the midst of many varieties of beautiful trees without acknowledging the supreme blessing of their presence. Perhaps this is because they are so plentiful in most places. If there were only one tree in the world, the person who owned it, granting such a remarkable monopoly, could wall it in, charge admission and become a billionaire, and that tree would be in a certain sense the center of the world.

To children who live in small cities, towns, villages and in the open country, where trees are so plentiful that they seem commonplace, it may be surprising to learn that in the great city of New York the school children really "study" trees. Country children no doubt study them unconsciously or learn much about them without effort. It comes natural to know interesting things about the woods when one is brought up in a thicket or at the edge of a forest. But how about the pent-up population in a city where there are many streets miles long without a single tree to relieve the dead wall monotony, the hard pavement prospect?

THE BALLROOM WAS A STUMP.

In New York, particularly in the lower sections of the older part of the city, which is the most densely populated place in the world, live thousands of children who never see a tree. They lack the price of care free to carry them to the parks. Consequently until they grow big enough to work and pay their way they must remain in the treeless desert of the metropolis.

But sometimes these children, and more frequently those in sections of the city where families in better circumstances dwell, have an opportunity to see and study trees in a way that is not enjoyed by country children. They are taken, one might say, to a tree clinic, where parts of a dissected tree corpse are exposed to their inspection. Sometimes the teacher of a school takes her class in a body to the American Museum of Natural History, Central park, to study the specimens of wood on exhibition there. One of the most interesting specimens is a cross section cut from the trunk of a California giant, known as "the big tree," or the Sequoia gigantea. This variety of tree grows larger than any other in the world. It is found only in California, and in a very few spots there. Thousands of tourists travel every year many miles just to see one of the big sequoia groves of California. Special efforts are being made of late to preserve these groves, since the sequoia seems to be a feeble propagator and but few seedling trees are found in the groves. Most of the trees are already giants. If left unmolested by fire or cutting, however, they appear to have a lease on life that would shame Methuselah.

When a public school class goes to the Museum of Natural History the children carry their pencils and notebooks. "Teacher" carries her pointer. The great tree section, showing that the giant from which it was cut was more than twenty-five feet in diameter, with a bark exceeding a foot in thickness, is set up on its edge, thus being viewed to best advantage. An official of the museum goes along with the teacher to aid her in pointing out the things of interest about the tree cut. The center of the tree is of a deep red color, the sequoias being also termed redwoods. The boys and girls sometimes try to count the "rings" in the wood to find out the age of the tree when it was slaughtered. But that is pretty much like trying to count the stars in the sky. That tree was a forest Methuselah when Columbus discovered America.

In the early days—about half a century ago—a California settler with more enterprise than sentiment cut down one of the very biggest trees in a fine grove, sawed the stump smooth and level and used it for a dancing platform. Needless to remark, this novel "ballroom" in the open air attracted many dancers who were willing to pay for the privilege of a waltz or a "hoe down" on the stump of the biggest tree that ever was felled.

John Jacob Astor, who has plenty of money, once conceived a novel idea. He procured a cross section from the trunk of a California big tree, had it hoisted aboard a ship and taken to England, and, after its surface had been polished to a brilliant glossiness, Mr. Astor caused the slab to be mounted as a table. Then he invited a large party of friends, who sat around this unique dining table and partook of a meal such as only a millionaire can spread. One of Mr. Astor's objects was to show the dubious Britishers that America has some big things.

JOHN R. WILDE.

NEW YORK PUPILS STUDYING THE GIANT SEQUOIA.

TO PREVENT TREE FAMINE.

President Roosevelt's Views on Preservation of Our Forests.

The great industries of agriculture, transportation, mining, grazing and, of course, lumbering are each one of them vitally and immediately dependent upon wood, water or grass from the forest. The manufacturing industries, whether or not wood enters directly into their finished product, are scarcely, if at all, less dependent upon the forest than those whose connection with it is obvious and direct. Wood is an indispensable part of the material structure upon which civilization rests, and civilized life makes continually greater demands upon the forest. We use not less wood, but more. Whatever materials may be substituted for wood in certain uses, we may confidently expect that the total demand for wood will not diminish, but steadily increase.

If the present rate of forest destruction is allowed to continue a timber famine is obviously inevitable. Fire, wasteful and destructive forms of lumbering and legitimate use are together destroying our forest resources far more rapidly than they are being replaced. What such a famine would mean to each of the industries of the United States it is scarcely possible to imagine. And the period of recovery from the injuries which a timber famine would entail would be measured by the slow growth of the trees themselves.

It is only as the producing and commercial interests of the country come to realize that they need to have trees growing up in the forest not less than they need the product of the trees cut down that we may hope to see the permanent prosperity of both safely secured.—Address to American Forest Congress.

An Army of Foresters.

The French forests have not only a code, but an army of their own, an army of 6,000 men, foresters, rangers and keepers, a real army, subjected to military discipline, so much so that in time of war this troop is transferred from the ministry of agriculture, where all forestry services are centered, to the department of war. In 1860 a law was enacted making it obligatory for the owner of mountains or mountain slopes to reforest them if needed. In 1882 a law was passed giving more liberty to the landowner. He is allowed to refuse to do the work. The government has then the right to pay him a fair sum for his land and expel him and plant the trees, so important is it considered for the whole community.

ARBOR DAY CHESTNUT TREE.

"Where do you get your chestnuts at?" The reading public cried.

"They are exceedingly stale and flat. We wonder when they died?"

But this perennial humorist.

He boldly up and stood.

For these same chestnuts which they hiss at.

He called them young and good.

"They seem to be from days of old."

The reading public said.

"Now, don't you dig them from the mold of ages—on the dead?"

But still this humorist upheld

His chestnuts and he cried

As from his eyes the tearsdrops welled

(He brushed the tears aside):

"Nay, my friends! I swear and know

These chestnuts they are new.

Though rather ancient, I allow,

The tree whereon they grew.

"It was my honored grandfathers hand

When he was hit a box.

Through rather ancient, I allow,

The tree whereon they grew.

"Enough!" they roared. "And, if it be

These chestnuts keep their tang,

Twice fifty years upon this tree

Your grandson ours will have!"

FAITH CURE BY MAIL.

Clergyman Will Try to Overcome Nervous Prostration by Letters.

Cure of physical ills by faith and prayer is to be taken up by mail as well as by personal ministrations in the campaign of healing undertaken by the Rev. Herbert N. Hopkins, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Nativity, in the Bronx section of New York city, according to the announcement made by the pastor the other night. The meeting was the third of the series that is to run through Lent, to be held on Friday nights.

The Rev. Mr. Hopkins announced to his audience of nearly 200 persons that since he had begun his faith and prayer cure meetings his mail had been flooded with requests from sufferers in all parts of the country for advice and suggestions as to the treatment. It was in the case of a woman who had been suffering from nervous prostration after the death of her husband that Rev. Mr. Hopkins declared his intention of trying mail treatment. He said he intended writing cheering letters and giving the patient advice as to how to pray.

ODD HONEYMOON TRIPS.

Couples to Ride to Political Conventions on Elephant and Mules.

W. H. Alexander, a Democratic politician living near Mammoth Springs, Ark., and Harry Palmer, a Missouri Republican, have agreed on a joint wedding ceremony, to be followed by a honeymoon trip with the brides on the backs of mules and an elephant.

Palmer intends to go through to Chicago via St. Louis on the elephant, accompanied by his bride. He hopes to arrive in time to attend the Republican convention. Alexander and his wife will ride mules all the way to Denver.

The novel plan was discussed in the presence of their respective fiancées, both of whom readily agreed to the trip as outlined. No wager has been made, and the best of feeling exists between the politicians, it is explained.

Flower Better Than Fly Paper.

Mignonette a substitute for fly paper! Surely, of any remedy for any bad condition that announcement has a delightful sound, says the New York Press. A woman living in the country asserts that in a room where pots of mignonette are set flies will no longer "Instead of placing those annoying sticky sheets of paper about the room," says an experienced woman, "or undergoing exhausting exercise of driving the pests out of the place through windows, the blessed plant just seems to blow them out on a wave of what you and I would call its fragrance."

Women Becoming Physicians.

Statistics recently compiled in regard to German university life show that men are dropping medicine as a profession, while women are turning to it.

The Yearly Mountain Call.

Now the mountains all are calling In the city's busy ear. And their pretty ads. are falling On the papers far and near. And the pamphlets and the books, With the pictures of the brooks And the "twenty foot veranda," Where the "choicest guests" meander, And the "tennis and croquet," And the "dozen meals a day," And the "telegram and phone," And the garden "all our own," "Cozy dell and mountain path," "Fishing, boating, bathing beach," "Churches—dozens—just in reach," "Pure spring water," "Cooking fine," "Nearby groves of spruce and pine," "No consumption," "not a kid," "Not a bit or katydid," "No mosquitoes"—nothing bad—Quite the finest to be had: "Coaching parties every day," "Howling all over the way," "Orchestra and dancing hall," "Weekly card game and ball," "Gas and artificial fire," "Offered at a modest price."

Yes, once more the mountains speak— Six and up for board per week.—Lurana W. Sheldon in New York Times.

TREES LIKE PEOPLE

There Are Good Ones and Bad Ones.
How They Help and Hinder
One Another.

It is not nature faking to assert that trees are like people in many respects. There are good trees and bad trees, just as there are good people and bad people; but, as in the case of people, by far the majority of trees are good. Trees have human or "near human" qualities and characteristics. The brotherhood of the race applies to trees, for there is between these forest denizens a community of feeling and interest which is well worth studying. Gifford Pinchot, official forester for the United States, who holds that post because he loves trees, has made a lifelong study of his favorite topic, and he declares that trees live in communities just like men and are helped or hindered, developed or retarded, by each other just as in the case of human beings.

A forest is a big tree community, a sort of vegetable democracy. Every individual tree has its own struggle for life. Yet they help each other in various ways. Mr. Pinchot says in one of his reports to the department of agriculture, called "A Primer of Forestry," as published from the government printing office:

"The history of the life of a forest is a story of the help and harm which the trees receive from one another. On one side every tree is engaged in a relentless struggle against its neighbors for light, water and food, the three things trees need most. On the other side each tree is constantly working with all its neighbors, even those which stand at some distance, to bring about the best condition of the soil and air for the growth and fighting power of every other tree."

In other words, each tree is, in a sense, its brother's keeper.

"The life of a community of trees is an exceedingly interesting one," continues Forester Pinchot. "A forest tree is in many ways as much dependent upon its neighbors for safety and food as are the inhabitants of a town upon one another. The difference is that in a town each citizen has a special calling or occupation in which he works for the service of the community, while in the forest every tree contributes to the general welfare in nearly all the ways in which it is benefited by the community."

THE SHADED TREE'S FIGHT FOR LIFE.

"A forest tree helps to protect its neighbors against the wind, which might overthrow them, and the sun, which is ready to dry up the soil about their roots or to make sun cracks in their bark by shining too hotly upon it. It enriches the earth in which they stand by the fall of its leaves and twigs and aids in keeping the air about their crowns and the soil about their roots cooler in summer and warmer in winter than it would be if each tree stood alone. With the others it forms a common canopy under which the seedlings of all the members of this protective union are sheltered in early youth and through which the beneficial influence of the forest is preserved and extended far beyond the spread of the trees themselves."

"But, while this fruitful co-operation exists, there is also present, just as in a village or a city, a vigorous strife for the good things of life. For a tree the best of these and often the hardest to get are water for the roots and space and light for the crown. Light and space are of such importance because the leaves cannot assimilate or digest food except in the presence of light and air. The rate at which a tree can grow and make new wood is decided chiefly by its ability to assimilate and digest plant food."

"The story of the life of a forest crop is then largely an account of the competition of the trees for light and room, and, although the very strength which enables them to carry on the fight is a result of their association, still the deadly struggle, in which the victims are many times more in number than those which survive, is apt alone to absorb the attention. Yet the mutual help of the trees to each other is always going quietly on. Every tree continually comforts and assists the other trees, which are its friendly enemies."

A part of the business of forestry is to help trees to help each other and to hinder them from hindering each other. Scientific forestry stands as a sort of surgeon in attendance upon trees. The forester is also a physician, for there are tree diseases which must be treated by interior applications of the right things at the right moment. Only the strongest men survive, while the puny ones sink, and this analogy is carried out by the trees in a dense thicket. Those which manage to get their heads, technically called "crowns," above the surrounding mass first are the ones which find enough light and air for free nature's daily food, and they are the ones which survive.

Shakespeare found "tongues in trees," but latter day scientists have found lungs also, showing that a tree is a breathing thing of life and energy and requires certain favorable environment before it can achieve its infant ambition to become a king of the forest.

AMUSEMENTS

MR. MANTILLI.

A Saturday matinee of "The Merchant of Venice" and "Macbeth" in New Orleans, a few weeks ago, filled the theater and there were not, by actual count, a hundred adults present. The Board of Education was so impressed with the result that it induced Mr. Mantelli to remain over in New Orleans and give a special performance that morning of "Macbeth."

Mr. Mantelli and company appear at the Auditorium Friday evening April 17. Seats now on sale. Curtain will raise promptly at 8 o'clock.

WHEN WE WERE FRIENDS.

Theatergoers will be delighted with the announcement of the engagement of Macaulay & Patton's production of the beautiful comedy drama, "When We Were Friends." The play is one of the most substantial hits of the season. The piece is full of comedy, homely wit and sentiment. "When We Were Friends" will be the attraction at the Auditorium Saturday afternoon and night April 18. William Macaulay plays the leading part.

EXTRA ATTRACTION.

The greatest event of the season in the popular priced line of attractions at the Auditorium, will be "The Colonial Stock Company." They will be here for one week commencing Monday evening, April 20. This company comes highly recommended, with 18 people. Polite caudeville will be interspersed between the acts. The opening play will be "The Heart of Alabama," a four act comedy drama. On opening night ladies will be admitted free if accompanied by a person holding a paid 30 cent reserved seat ticket which must be reserved before 6 p.m. Monday.

DRAMA AT BROWNSVILLE.

"Through Snow and Sunshine," a delightful drama at Brownsville high school, Friday evening, April 17. Good music. 13-15-16

GREAT SOUTHERN.

Henry Woodruff in "Brown of Harvard," accompanied by his company of 30 young men and women and the famous boat race scene, will be the attraction at the Southern theater, Columbus, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 21-22.

Viola Allen's engagement at the Southern theater on Friday, April 24, will possess two factors of interest which added to the star's popularity, will result, it is expected, in attracting more than a generous share of attention. The play "Irene Wycheley," has been a sensational feature of the season both in London and New York, and is the first effort at dramatic writing by a university professor, Anthony P. Wharton, of the faculty of Dublin university. It is a play of temperament with tragedy for its end, though the tragedy is not brought to the sight of the audience. The company is quite the most remarkable that has been seen in recent years. For the most minute parts Liebier & Co. have engaged players of experience and commanding ability.

Then Thomas W. Ross comes to the Southern on Saturday, April 25, in "The Traveling Salesman," a new comedy by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Lady," which has created such a furor in the east. He will be supported by a number of well known players.

MADAM RHEDA AT POWERS, MILLER

Considered far and away the finest sight of hand performer seen in Newark in years, Madam Rheda of New York City today delighted an immense audience at the Powers-Miller Co. store. Madam Rheda appears in oriental costumes and her work will compare favorably with such magicians as Kellar and the late Alexander Herrmann.

One of Madam Rheda's acts is the Hindoo flower growing. The magician plants the seeds in ordinary flower-pots of earth. Soon a tiny shoot appears above the soil which soon by degrees attains a height of 4 to 4 1/2 feet, bearing profuse natural foliage.

Red Checker Men

and natural flowers which she immediately cuts off and gives away as souvenirs.

Madam Rheda's engagements is for the balance of this week, every afternoon, commencing at 2:30. Everybody cordially invited to witness these wonderful acts with the compliments of The Powers-Miller Co.

TONIGHT

Ralph Parlette at Taylor Hall—New Lecture, "Uncle Sam's Sermons."

Word has been received from Ralph Parlette, the noted lecturer and humorist, that he desires to give here his new lecture, "Uncle Sam's Sermons." The committee has conformed to this request and the above lecture will be given tonight. If you have never heard this famous speaker you will find a treat in store for you tonight. Those that have heard him never fail to go back again. Admission to this lecture is 25 cents. Reserve your seats by telephone and come out tonight.

HOLDUP

MEN ARRESTED BY POLICE—THREE OF SUSPECTS PLACED BEHIND BARS.

TWO OF THE MEN ESCAPE

Before Officers Can Nab Them—Men Bound Over to Grand Jury in Sum of $200.

The efficiency of the Newark police department has been proved again, for three men of the five that are alleged to have attacked Joseph Ugy and George Keron, Saturday night and shot and cut Ugy when they discovered he had no money in his possession, have been arrested, locked up and bound over to the grand jury.

The men have been under suspicion for several days, and the police have been gathering threads that drew the net around the trio. Tuesday morning Chief Zergiebel appeared before the mayor and swore out warrants against W. B. Felton, Carrol Smith and Wesley Mitchell, charging them with shooting and intent to rob.

The warrants were given to the officers, and all day long the men searched for the men suspected of the crime. At 8:40 o'clock last evening Officer Swank went to the Felton home, 235 West Main street, and placed W. B. Felton under arrest. The patrol was called and Felton was locked up in the city prison over night.

A few moments after this the Felton home was again visited by Captain Bell and Officer Brooke, and Carrol Smith was also taken in. The third of the trio was arrested at 1:55 this morning when Officers Chester, McConnell and Lanning went to the home of Wesley Mitchell, 126 Seventh street, and took Mitchell from his bed.

Two other men wanted in connection with the holdup eluded the officers, but all the surrounding cities, towns and villages have been notified and the chances are that the men will be arrested within a few days.

The cases were tried in police court Wednesday morning and all three prisoners were bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $200 each. Failing to give bond they were taken to the county jail and looked up. Felton is said to have come originally from Mt. Vernon where he lived for several years.

REVISED RULES

RELATING TO CATHOLIC BROTHERHOODS WILL BECOME EFFECTIVE EASTER.

Marriages by Protestant Ministers or Magistrates Will Be Invalid

Rome, April 15.—Catholic sweethearts should make their engagements in writing after next Sunday. Catholic marriages by protestant clergymen or magistrates will be invalid. Such marriages have always been punishable, but the church considered them binding. They are not even that under the new Catholic law. Revised betrothal and marriage rules will be read from every Catholic pulpit in the world at Easter and become effective at noon. Written engagements are not made absolutely obligatory, but it is specified that only such will be "considered valid and produce the canonical effects."

Few Suicides Among Miners. In Germany there are fewer suicides among miners than among any other class of workmen.

No Joke. When a man says that he "needs the money to buy the baby shoes," and laughs it is a sure sign that he's single. Married men who have experienced the shoe problem realize that it is no laughing matter.—Detroit Free Press.

Wall Paper Talk

Our Last Convincing Argument

We sincerely trust that you have enjoyed and been benefited by these thirty-six wall-paper talks, and trust we have made ourselves clear as possible concerning all styles of wall decorations. We know full well we can sell you the hand-somest papers manufactured in America and foreign countries for at least from a fourth to a half less than you have been in the habit of paying.

A more complete and satisfactory line of wall covering than ours is seldom shown. The assortment of papers selected with discriminating taste and a knowledge of their artistic value should have the consideration of everyone needing any wall decorations in their homes. Some of the very best examples of the wall paper art are here, and there is a diversity of color and design that must meet the approval of the most critical. Patterns of a period character are shown in harmonious colorings as well as beautiful floral papers and many artistic examples of new art, both American and foreign.

Each year brings greater values and greater possibilities and this year has exceeded all former years.

When you are ready to purchase your interior decorations remember that we are just as anxious to please you as you are to be pleased, and we will only ask that you allow us to show you through our line.

We have pleased hundreds of people and have held their confidence to such an extent that they have continued to come year after year. In case you are not among these many customers who have gotten the habit we trust that you will get it at once.

Yours, for correct wall coverings.

To the Merchants of Newark.

When the plans were first made for The King's Daughters' tag day, the committee had thought to solicit the merchants, asking for contributions or per cent on sales at certain hours during the day. For several reasons this plan was changed and it was decided to leave it to the merchants themselves. Several have already offered either special subscriptions or a per cent of sales. If there are others who wish to do so, the offers will be very gratefully received. Any contribution concerning this part of the work will be gladly received by the advertising committee. Mrs. C. A. A FAULTY COMPLEXION IS UNNECESSARY

Some time between the twenty-fifth and thirtieth year of a woman's life her complexion usually undergoes a subtle change. At night, with the aid of powder and rouge, her complexion is beautiful. In the morning—well, to be charitable, it is not so good. Take the majority of women you know and view them in a soft, shaded or colored, half light, and they are pretty; look at them in the strong glare of the sunlight and note the difference.

Would you like to have a complexion that is beautiful and lasting—one that is equally charming in the morning or evening, in the room or outdoors, in daylight or lamplight.

Obtain at your drug store Rose Water, 2 ounces; Cologne Spirits, 1 ounce; Eppothine (skin food) .4 ounces. Put the Eppothine in a pint of hot water (not boiling), and after dissolved, strain and let cool. Then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits.

You can easily make this splendid toilet preparation at home (there is enough to last you for months, and the cost is very slight). It will not injure the most delicate skin.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE
AT THE PUBLIC EXPENSE

(Buffalo Times, Rep.)

"It is fair to say for Secretary Taft that if there had been a school provided for the education of presidential candidate, it would have been impossible to furnish a better education than he has had at the public expense. He has been in the cabinet, and as Secretary of War has been sent to every one of our colonial dependencies. Of course, he did not pay the price, but he got the advantage."

"Secretary Taft, drawing a salary of $12,000 a year, has spent $50,000 a year in his travels over the world. It is entirely true that much of this money has come from his brother, Charles P. Taft, who in turn got it because he happened to own most of the public service corporations in Cincinnati. But much of the money has come from the taxpayers of the United States."

"Repeated efforts have been made to find out how much the pleasant excursions of Secretary Taft have cost the people. Thus far no one has been able to discover the facts. All we know is that the Secretary of War, the aspirant for the presidency, is hardly known to his office, and has visited every country in the list of civilized nations and done so at the national expense."

"There is only one way in which the Taft traveling expenses can be made public, and that is by a new administration willing to go into the books of the past one."

great and all absorbing question is what can be done about it. We know what might be done, but we have no sort of notion that it will be done. We knew that the Republican party of Ohio has been bound hand and foot by the bosses who have been allowed to grow and flourish without restraint. We know that the machinery of the party has been captured by these bosses and that they are so entrenched that it is practically impossible to dislodge them. The party must quietly submit to the domination of these obnoxious bosses or bolt the ticket nominated in the interest of these political cut-throats. There is still another way to get rid of boss domination, and that is by a general uprising of Republicans with a demand for a new deal.

CALL FOR ANNUAL
MAY MEETING

Of the Licking County Democracy to be held in Newark Saturday, May 2, 1908.

"At a meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee, held on Saturday, March 28, 1908, it was decided that the annual May Meeting of the Democracy of Licking county should be called to meet in Newark on Saturday, May 2, and shall be called to order at 10 o'clock a. m. by the chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, who shall be recognized as temporary chairman of the meeting until the committee on permanent organization shall have reported."

It shall be the business of the temporary chairman of said convention to announce a committee on permanent organization, consisting of one member from each precinct in the city of Newark, and each township and precinct in the county, said committee to be selected by the Democratic voters present from each ward and township, each acting separately.

In like manner committees consisting of one member from each township, ward and precinct shall be chosen as follows:

Committee on time and mode of making nominations.
Committee to select and report delegates to the State convention, the Circuit Court convention of the Fifth Ohio Circuit, the Congressional convention of the 17th Ohio District, and the Senatorial convention of the 15th-16th Ohio district.

The committee on permanent organization shall at once proceed to elect and report to the convention a president, two vice presidents and two secretaries of said convention.

The other committees as above named shall meet at once to perform their duties and make their respective reports to the convention.

In voting on the reports of the committees on all questions, resolutions, or any other business before the meeting, the secretary shall call the roll of the townships and wards and each township and ward shall be entitled to one vote for every 25 votes cast for Hon. Samuel H. Hoskins for secretary of state at the November election of 1906, and one vote for every fraction of 13 votes.

The Democrats present from each township and precinct shall constitute the delegation from the same, and the votes shall be cast as they direct by one of their members chosen by themselves.

Each township and precinct will be entitled to the following number of votes:

CONGRESS

Will Adjourn About May 15 With Much of President's Program Unacted.

Washington, April 15—Representative Watson of Indiana announced today after a conference with the President, that Congress would adjourn about May 15. Watson indicated that Congress would adjourn with much of the President's legislative program unacted. He said he didn't think an amendment to the anti-Sherman law would be taken out of the committee. He said the House will pass an appropriation allowing the ways and means committee to sit during recess to consider tariff revision.

BRYAN MEN

Who Have Been Advocating Endorsement by New York Convention Surrendered Today.

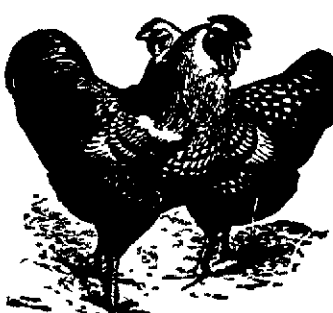

New York, April 15—The Bryan men who have been advocating the adoption by the state convention of a resolution favoring his candidacy surrendered this morning after their defeat before the resolutions committee. August Thomas, a close friend of the Nebraskan, announced the surrender. The slate for delegates at large to the Denver convention includes Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany, Lewis Nixon, Judge Alton B. Parker and some German Democrats.

PENSION FOR NEEDY BLIND

INCREASE IN ALLOWANCE IS MADE FROM THE COUNTY
TREASURY.

Commission of Three Members Will Have Charge of Distribution of Relief.

The Ohio Legislature a few days ago passed House Bill 823 by Mr. Harper, being a bill for the relief of needy blind, and it is now a law. This new law is understood to take the place of the law providing relief for the blind, which was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court about one year ago, though in what respect the new law is more constitutional than the old one, it would take a Solomon to decide. Following are the salient features of the new law, which is of general interest:

Section 2. A needy blind person shall be construed to mean any person who, by reason of loss of eyesight, is unable to provide himself with the necessities of life, who has not sufficient means of his own to maintain himself.

Sec. 3. authorizes the Probate Judge within 30 days after the passage of the act, and annually thereafter, on or before the first Monday of April to appoint three persons to serve as the Blind Relief Commission, who shall organize by electing one of their number president and one secretary.

Sec. 4. The Blind Relief Commission shall meet at the office of the County Commissioners within thirty days after its appointment and thereafter annually on the fourth day of November of each year, and at such other times as it may be necessary on the call of the secretary, and examine carefully the list of applicants properly filed.

Sec. 5. A needy blind person, to secure relief under this act, must be a resident of this State at the passage of this act or become blind while a resident of this State, and shall be a resident of the county for one year.

Sec. 6. Persons claiming relief shall file at least ten days prior to action on said claims with the board, a duly verified statement of the facts, bringing him within the provision of this act. No certificate for drawing money under this act shall be granted until the board is satisfied from the evidence of at least two reputable residents of the county, one of whom shall be a registered physician, that they know the applicant to be blind, and that he has the residential qualifications to entitle him to relief applied for, which evidence shall be in writing, subscribed by witnesses.

If the board is satisfied by such examination that the applicant is entitled to receive any relief, they shall issue an order therefor in such sum as they find needed, not to exceed $150 per year (it may be less), to be paid out quarterly out of the fund herein provided for, on a warrant to be issued by the County Auditor.

Sec. 10. Any person who shall make a false statement in order to secure the benefit for himself or another, herein provided, shall, on conviction, be deemed guilty of perjury.

The Probate Court has not yet appointed the commission but will do so at once.

When said appointment is made by the court all communications in regard to the blind pension law must be addressed to the Blind Relief Commission, Newark, O., care of County Commissioners.

COMMITTEE
IN SESSION

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN MINERS AND OPERATORS MAY BE ADJUSTED.

Operators Insist Agreement Must Protect Them From Local Strikes and Similar Disagreements.

Toledo, O., April 15—Difference between bituminous coal miners and operators are today being threshed out by the scale committee in session behind closed doors.

Representatives of miners on the committee take a hopeful view of the situation and say an agreement will be reached before the end of the week.

Before the scale committee went into session this morning President Lewis of the miners, said: "I expect to be through here by Thursday night."

The operators do not take this optimistic view of the situation. The miners insist that the scale committee confine its business exclusively to the question of a resumption of work, wage scale and length of contract. Rules and working conditions, they say, should be left to separate districts for adjustment. This is where the operators and miners may split. The operators insist the agreement must protect them from local strikes and similar disagreements. They also insist that if the present wage scale is agreed upon, the contract must be for two years. If the contract is for one year only, the operators will demand a reduced scale.

ASK FOR NUMBER FIFTY-NINE

You need but a moment and a 25 cent piece to find a renter for that house, flat or room or a buyer for that bicycle, farm or book. There need be as little expenditure of time and money in finding a lost article, securing a seamstress, cook or farm hand. The way to do is to call the Advocate on the 'phone—Number 59, either telephone—and state your want. Tell your story in 18 words and the "ad." will be printed for three consecutive days for a quarter.

Everybody reads the classified advertising on page 3 of this paper and if you doubt that it is profitable to use these columns simply try it once. What do you want? Say it in 18 words, spend a quarter and watch for returns. Ring telephone No. 59.

Pure Blood

Is certain if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine cures those eruptions, pimples and boils that appear at all seasons; cures scrofula sores, salt rheum or eczema; adapts itself equally well to, and also cures, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles; cures rheumatism and catarrh; cures nervous troubles, debility and that tired feeling.

Sarsaparilla—For those who prefer medicine to tablet form, Hood's Sarsaparilla is now put up in convenient tablet form, as well as in the usual liquid form. Sarsaparilla has identical the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dose, convenience, economy, no loss by evaporation, breakage or leakage. Druggists or promptly by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. C. K. Tyler, Burlington, Vt., says: "The cure of a large farm, so much to do and so little health to do it with, caused almost a complete break down—blood poor and thin, no strength, little sleep. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me speed, natural sleep, perfect health, strength to do all my work."

The Wisdom of Age and Experience

There are old men here in Newark who deeply regret that they did not save money enough, study enough, and particularly did not work enough, read enough in their earlier life.

Each of these older, wiser, sadder men could infinitely improve the lives and happiness of hundreds of younger men—if the younger men would only listen to them and profit by their experience.

They would tell you to work; they would tell you many things NOT to do; but even if you refused all the rest of their advice, they would insist upon your saving money; and upon your having a system to save regularly. So much from each pay check soon becomes the easy way. BEGIN NOW.

Lunacy Hearing Held in Jail—Common Pleas Court Findings and Other Court News.

In the case of Charles Kissell vs. Koss Louder, where the defendant has filed his answer to the petition and asks that the petition be dismissed. He says that on September 16, 1905, he was married to the plaintiff but that the marriage was brought about by the connivance of plaintiff, a woman named Shriner, and a man named Moore, who conspired together to force him into the marriage. He says he had only known the woman one month, that he did not know her character or habits, that he met the plaintiff and the Shriner woman in Newark and was told that he would have to go to Kirkersville. When he protested the women threatened and he finally went with them; that upon arriving at the home of the parents of plaintiff he found that a marriage license had been procured and that a minister was present, that against his will a marriage ceremony was performed, but that immediately after the ceremony he returned to the home of his mother. He says he never courted plaintiff or asked her to marry him. He charges her with living an immoral life before and since the marriage and asks that the marriage be annulled.

Charles Kissell Adjudged Insane.
An inquest of lunacy on Charles B. Kissell was held by the Probate court Wednesday morning. Kissell is aged 24 years, is married and has one child. He is a son of J. B. Kissell. He became violently insane last Saturday and has constantly grown worse so that his ravings could be heard over the neighborhood and he became very dangerous. Tuesday afternoon he was taken to the county jail, where he remained until Wednesday. It was impossible to bring him to the court house as he was raving wildly and had torn every stitch of clothing from his person. The probate judge and Dr. N. J. Davis and Dr. I. N. Palmer examined the man at the jail. The patient was adjudged insane and was taken to the State Hospital at Columbus Wednesday afternoon.

Springfield, Ill., the nameless bander for the committee that is canvassing the vote is unable to decide on a name out of the hundreds sent in.

Lancaster defeated the Interurbans of Columbus, Tuesday, by the score of 5 to 2. A one handed catch by Lyons the first baseman, was the feature of the game.

The Springfield Gazette says: "It is very evident that local baseball fans are not fans at all. Every effort has been made to line them up for a Rooters' Club but they have taken to the idea about the same way that a fish would to a dust storm."

AMERICAN

Association Season Opens Today
With Teams Well Matched—Senators Claim 1908 Rag.

The season of the American Association opens today with St. Paul at Columbus, Toledo at Minneapolis, Louisville at Milwaukee, and Indianapolis at Kansas City. The race days season promises to be an interesting one for the team are all well balanced. Columbus again looks good for the rag, although every manager in the circuit is already claiming the bunting. Manager Armour of the Toledo Mud Hens is already erecting a flag pole to fly the bunting from and the fight is on.

LIMA

FRANCHISE IS AGAIN SOLD—CLARKE RETIRES AS MANAGER AND TOM BRUCE BUYS INTEREST.

Nick Kahl Made Manager and Five Senators Sent There, Laddy Linke Among Them.

Six Senators of yesterday are Lima players today, as the result of an important deal made by President Quinn in the interests of the Ohio State League. William Clarke retires as the Lima owner and T. J. Bryce, who has operated three championship clubs in Columbus, becomes an Ohio State magnate.

Nick Kahl has been made the Lima manager. First Baseman Sykes goes with him, as do infielder Lindsey, Outfielder Jude, Pitcher Garvey and Pitcher Linke. These six are expected to form a strong nucleus for a club that will represent Lima worthily in the Ohio State league race.

For the past two weeks, Clarke has been worrying over illness in his family and has believed that he should be in Baltimore all the time, where he says his wife is now suffering with typhoid pneumonia. He came to Columbus Tuesday and begged President Quinn to swing a deal so that he could sell out.

With the season opening a week from tomorrow, Quinn realized that he must act quickly and secure a live wire as the Lima owner. Clarke is the second owner in two months there. Believing that Mr. Bryce might take the franchise, Quinn took the subject up with him.

Mr. Bryce called in his associates in the Columbus baseball business and they agreed with him that it would not be impracticable to finance the Lima club. So the deal was closed. Messrs. Schoenborn and Trump are now in Lima to arrange for the transfer of the stock.

It is believed that the Lima people will be glad to have the progressive Columbus men of experience furnishing their baseball. Citizens there have said that, while they did not care to own the team, they will do everything possible to support it.

One declaration of Mr. Bryce is worth the notice of other club owners of the Ohio State league. "We will live up to the rules of the league," he said. This means that the Lima club will not violate the agreement made in regard to the maximum amount of monthly salary.

Lima people can not be promised a pennant winner. They can rest assured that Manager Kahl's club, like the A. A. one in Columbus, will do all it can to make it extremely interesting for the other fellows.

Kahl is glad of the opportunity. He will have good employment and a chance to work into grand condition. Perhaps he will be in a higher league in years to come, for he is a valuable man, when absolutely right.

Sykes will play a grand game at first base. He is a player of promise and is not at the height of his career yet. He'll do a lot toward making the Lima team an aggressive one. Lindsay will be another infield hustler.

Jude ought to be one of the best outfielders in the league. He's better now than some of the men who have jobs in the A. A., but, for some reason or other, there has been no bidding for him by needy managers.

Garvey is due for a good year and will pitch good ball. Linke starred for Newark last year, and wouldn't mind going back there. When he gets settled in Lima, he'll be a winner.

Lima was defeated by the Canton team yesterday by the score of 4 to 2. Miller and McAleese was the battery for Lima. Miller was in good form and allowed six hits, but was given poor support, Lima having four errors.

Springfield has a new candidate for first base. His name is Spencer and he is 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 180 pounds. He was tried out by the Boston Nationals two years ago, but was released for lack of experience.

MOLDERS

Given Hard Workout Tuesday—Sick Men Better—Zanesville Here Today.

Tuesday saw another hard day's work at Wehrle park and the Berryhill bunch was able to get a good sweat up from the work given them. A practice game was played with a pickup team, and some of the players were recruited from the boys in the bleachers, for the releases and the sickness of some of the men has reduced the squad.

The men that were under the weather are getting back on their feet again, and will be able to work in today's game with Zanesville. While the pitchers for the Infants have not been decided upon, Hegan will put his strongest men in the field against the Molders. The men in the game will be Miller, Smith and Blount in the outfield. Saveland, Loyd, McClosky and Swartling on the infield. Popham will do the bulk of the back-stopping.

RELEASES

Given Tuesday to Two More Men—Squad Narrowing Down Through Pruning Knife.

Lodago, Indiana, will have a battery again this year, for the Currie boys suffered yesterday when the shakeout box was put in action by the manager. John, the man who pitched the game Sunday drew his walking papers, and he also carried home to Harry the papers that turned him loose. Harry was the catcher who was injured at the ball park during an afternoon practice some time ago. Walter Smith, a catcher from Massillon, has gone home, and it is not known whether he will return or not. Smith has a bad arm and has been able to do little throwing this year.

SUMMIT

Stationed at S. Team Almost Shut Out by Reynoldsburg—Other Games This Week.

Summit Station, April 15.—The local high school team was defeated on Saturday afternoon by the Reynoldsburg high school team by the score of 8 to 4. Miller, the visiting pitcher, struck out 16 men; Layton for the locals allowed seven hits and ten passes. The Young Northerners will play two games at Summit Friday afternoon. The Mohawks from this place will play at Pataskala next Saturday.

DENISON SCHEDULE.

Granville, O., April 15.—Following is the official baseball schedule for Denison university for this spring:
April 18, Mutes of Columbus, at Granville.
April 25—Ohio Medics, at Granville.
April 30—Western Reserve at Cleveland.

May 22, Wooster at Granville.
May 29, Ohio University at Athens.
June 30, Ohio University at Athens.
June 3, West Virginia University at Granville.
June 5, Muskingum at Granville.
June 9, Alumni game at Granville.
June 10, Kenyon at Granville.
June —, Senior-Faculty game.

Marion has out Outfielder Gillis and Infielder Donaldson loose. The recruits are showing up in nice shape and O'Day is having trouble in weeding his men out.

Lancaster will play the Pan Handle White Sox of Columbus Saturday.

Mansfield Convicts will play the Canton Central league team Friday and Saturday. The results of the games will be interesting to compare the Mansfield team as it stands with the Lima squad.

SOUTH SCHOOL DEFEATED.

The West school defeated the school of the Grammar league Tuesday by the score of 4 to 3. The following is the lineup of the teams: West—Trittip, c. Keys, p. Howell ss. Embrey 1b. Patterson 2b. Coffman 3b. Wallace lf. Stamfer mf. Ferrow rf. South school—Willie c. Haynes p. Crawford ss. Hossler 1b. Lott 2b. Nohls 3b. Leady lf. Beck mf. Lewis rf.

Whistling Women.

There is a superstition that it is very unlucky for a woman to whistle. It arises from an old tradition that while the nails of our Lord's cross were being forged a woman stood by and whistled, and, curiously enough, comparatively few women ever whistle.—Home Notes.

SOLDIERS KILLED

IN FIGHT WITH MORO OUTLAWS IN THE ISLAND OF MINDANAO

Battle Reported to Have Occurred Near Lanao—News Has Not Been Confirmed.

Manilla, April 15.—Two members of the constabulary were killed and three soldiers were wounded in a fight by the constabulary and regulars with Moro outlaws in the island of Mindanao according to a message received here. The news comes in a private dispatch and has not yet been confirmed. The battle is reported to have taken place near the town of Lanao. A column composed of constabulary and a battalion of the 15th infantry, commanded by Col. Davis, has been following the outlaws for some time. It is supposed here that the soldiers overtook the Moros and engaged them. No mention of casualties among the outlaws is made.

Her Easter Joy

A Story by ESTHER JOYCE.

Copyright, 1907, by Mary McKeon.

MISS AMY CARTER leaned back in the dull shadows of the boarding house parlor and watched the girl at the piano.

The girl had a true but untrained voice, and she sang in commonplace, soulless fashion the air of a four part sacred song.

"Wasn't it shivery and grand where the bass took up the tune?"

The girl's hands came down on the keys with a crash. She had not dreamed that Miss Amy had come into the room. Most of the boarders did not come downstairs until the tea bell had rung. Miss Amy was almost as startled as the girl. She had been in the house five weeks and never exchanged a word with any one save the landlady.

"Were you at St. Augustine's this afternoon?" inquired the girl, swinging around on the piano stool.

"Oh, yes," replied Miss Amy simply. "I've been there every Sunday since I heard you sang there in the choir."

"I'm sure it is awfully kind of you to say so. I don't do much, you know, just one of the choruses, but I'm sure it is awfully kind of you to say so."

such humility, such lack of ambition, almost staggered him.

"Perhaps some time—when my voice is a little stronger—you might, that is, if it would be quite right, you might let me join your choir at St. Augustine's?"

"First vacancy there is," he assented heartily. "What our congregation likes is a number of sweet, correct voices. By the time some one gets tired of rehearsal or marries or moves away I'll have your voice placed and be glad to take you on."

And so commenced the musical career of Miss Amy Carter, aged thirty-one, residence, a second class boarding house; occupation, spending the small inheritance which had come to her suddenly after a life of narrow drudgery and unrelieved sacrifice. At first her lessons opened and closed with almost monosyllabic conversation, but in time the musical conversation beneath the surface and found the heart which for years had almost starved for music.

It had been born in her, she thought, but there had been work to do, so heavy that her hands had grown too rough and stiff to play the old fashioned organ. There were two invalids to nurse when the village choir would have been glad of her services. And so she counted her love as dead and buried until the inheritance had come, and then—

"Well," she said, with a whimsical smile, "I thought I'd come to New York and hear the best of music while the money lasted. I would have a taste of real life—what I have heard people call the joy of living."

Weston smiled to himself. She called this seeing life! And, indeed, these days she was quite in a flutter of excitement all the time. Weston had tickets he could not use for this concert and that. Matinees came just when he had pupils, and it was a shame to waste the tickets. He was tremendously diverted by this delicate, flower-like woman, who felt that she was indulging in a mad orgy of music.

He learned to look forward with keen interest to her comments on the concert she attended. Self played so small a part in her enjoyment. It was always not how she felt, but how the music affected the audience, and gradually he discovered that she had a decided gift of criticism which was developing under his guidance.

Something he knew too, that his pupil of thirty-one had not discovered. Under the magic of indulging the one great longing of her lifetime she was cheating old Father Time, turning pages back and not forward. The faint color was always in her cheeks these days, and the voice, rising in her bird-like throat, was fresh as a girl's, lifting like a lark's in flower meadows.

And, watching her development, the tired man began to wonder what had come over him. He saw his work in a new light. The weight of drudgery slipped from his shoulders. The sense of wasted effort yielded to the infectious happiness of his buoyant pupil.

And so dawned Easter morning over St. Augustine's. Outside the doors the mob of sightseers swarmed first right to pews. Then came the inrush of strangers; the organist took his place, Mr. Weston raised his hand, and the band of white robed men and women filed into the choir loft. Out to the waiting multitude rolled the waves of perfectly balanced harmonies—a hundred voices admirably selected, thought the congregation, and yet to the man who had trained them there came but a single voice. Her face was uplifted, her eyes dewy and tender, as with angelic clearness the wonderful words of the hymn above the words of the other singers:

"The strife is o'er, the battle done; The victory of life is won; The song of triumph has begun—Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia!"

To the man it came not as a psalm of triumph, but a message of peace, and she had shown him the way!

He wanted to tell her now—this minute! The service stretched ahead of him interminably.

"Alleluia, alleluia!"

His glance caught and held hers. A flash of expression flashed over her face. The flutterlike tones faltered and died away.

The absorbed singers on either side did not note that her hand trembled, and her face, paling, turned to the banks of Easter lilies. Perhaps it was their perfume—something seemed to smother the sound in her throat. Then, as if fascinated, her glance traveled back to meet his, and the tender rapture in his face steadied her. She raised her book, the color came back into her face, and as her voice floated out to him, in the final "Alleluia" he knew that his heart's "Alleluia" had reached her, and that was her answer.

One day, says a Chinese legend, the great god Buddha was very hungry. There were no restaurants in the neighborhood. A little rabbit perceived the god's plight and, hopping up to him, said:

"Eat me, O Buddha!"

Enthused by such unselfish devotion, the god transported himself to the moon, where he still sits in the top of a tree, pounding in a mortar the herbs that go to make up the water of life.

At the spring feast in China ever since that time people give each other moon shaped cakes stamped with the image of a rabbit.

Christ, because admitted the oldest, has been beset with very great difficulties. The Church of Rome, in whose possession most of them are, has guarded them with extreme care, and, considering their sanctity, no one can wonder at this or even complain of it.

There is in the basilica of St. Peter's, at Rome, in the sacristy over the gigantic statue of St. Veronica, a picture accounted so holy and priceless that no layman may ever behold it, and it is on the authority of Fathers Garucci and Tebany, who were famous as Roman antiquarians in the reign of Pius IX., that even the supreme pontiff looked upon it only once a year, and then only after communion.

It consists of a life size head of the Saviour represented as lying in the sepulcher. The ascertained history of the picture reaches to the second century.

Second only to this work is the picture in the sacristy of the Church of St. Bartolomeo, in Genoa. The hair is wet and matted; tears and the blood drops from the crown of thorns, so expressive of the stern reality of death, mark the face, but the calm features, nearly closed eyes, the gently parted lips, speak not of corruption, but of the spirit at that moment in paradise and of the shortly to be accomplished resurrection. This portrait is positively known to be 1,800 years old, and tradition says it was painted by St. Luke.

A picture in the library of the Vatican at Rome is of a date probably contemporary with the two just mentioned. Legend declares that this also was a production of St. Luke. It is executed in thick water color on a panel of cypress wood, now almost wholly decayed.

Many of the portraits of Christ found in the catacombs afford sufficient evidence that the familiar traits of the hair parted in the middle, flowing to the shoulders and beginning to curl or wave from the ears downward; the thin beard, the mustache and the oval face were recognized as the distinguishing characteristic and true likeness even at the early period.

This type has been followed by all the great painters of Christendom down to the present day. It satisfied Michelangelo. In painting his last picture of Christ he followed the Veronican portrait line for line, as if he had traced it.

This likeness of Christ is universally recognized, so that now in every country where we see it painted it is well known who it represents. — New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Pictures of The Christ

Reasons For Belief In Authenticity of the Typical Portrait.

AS Easter day approaches Jesus, whose resurrection and ascension this day commemorates, is drawn to our attention, and the question is asked, "Did the Saviour leave his likeness on earth while among men?"

This question is best answered by referring to the remarkable consistency with which Christ has been pictured all through the ages by the world's greatest painters.

Many able and profound students of Christian art have brought forward positive arguments to show that this portrait did exist in the early decades of the Christian era at the time of Christ and that its history and characteristics fully supply the requisite element of authenticity.

Of the typical portraiture of Jesus, transmitted to us from an age in which the productions of pictorial art were either venal to vanity or utterly debased, it stands entirely by itself for purity, for power of conception and for a style of art not belonging and related to none other.

At its grand simplicity, it is yet distinctly individual and portrait-like in its type. Whether portrayed in humility, in suffering or in triumph, though sometimes severe and rugged, it is still always dignified and majestic.

It addresses itself by its intrinsic tenderness and at the same time by its strength of character so directly to the higher sympathies and aspirations of our nature that it is accepted at once, with undoubting, almost instinctive, faith as the veritable counterpart of the divine original.

EASTER LOVE FEAST.

Quaint Custom of the Moravians of Lancaster County, Pa.

It is a great privilege to witness the Easter observances at the old Moravian town of Lititz, Lancaster county, Pa. In churches of this denomination the men and women sit on the opposite sides of the "meeting house," as do the Shakers and Quakers and the Harmonists of Economy. During the love feast a number of men servers come in at the door on one side of the house and a like number of women enter from the opposite side. They carry wooden trays piled high with sweetened bread, and after they have passed this all around, the men serving the women and the women serving the men, they bring in enormous cups of steaming hot coffee. The feast is partaken of in silence on the part of the feasters, but the preacher exhorts all the while, and the band plays without ceasing. Every Moravian church has its brass band.

The love feast is held the Saturday morning preceding Easter Sunday. But in the afternoon of that day these people have a pretty custom of decorating the graves of their dead, which seems to be particularly appropriate at the Easter season since done in the faith that the dead "will rise again and live forever."

Later on in the day the mothers of the little Moravians prepare the nests of what is known to these small people as "the good rabbit." How they do shout and rejoice on Easter morning when they discover the nests all filled with colored eggs laid by the good rabbit in nests hidden in dense grass, straw piles and other hard to find places!

At 5 o'clock Easter morning the Moravian minister takes his stand on the church steps and reads a litany and the verse of a hymn, which the congregation, standing around him in the chilling dawn, take up and sing to music furnished by the church band. After this they make a second pilgrimage to the graveyard. This service is to commemorate the visit of the holy women to the tomb of Jesus. The minister bares his head and reads the Easter litany.

By this time the sun has risen, and its light gleams across graves that were yesterday strewn with flowers that are now beaded with diamond dew. It would be hard to imagine a more impressive ceremony than this. All that would seem to you and to me greivous would die out of the hymn, and a song full of joy and triumph, denoting "Christ has risen," seems to rise to the very heavens, and the people smile and shake hands and rejoice. The Moravians share the belief of the Irish peasantry that the sun dances on Easter morning.—Washington Post.

TRACTION

LINE FROM NEWARK TO MT. VERNON AND WOOSTER MAY BE BUILT SOON.

Financiers Send Telegram for Plans and Surveys—Line Would Tap Rich Farming Country.

If the old saying "where there is smoke there must be fire," holds good, the building of the Newark, Mt. Vernon and Wooster Traction line may be booked for the near future. Dr. Edward Dever of Mt. Vernon, who is actively and financially interested in the project, received a telegram from Crosby & Wemple, financial agents in New York Tuesday night urging him to catch the first train for that city as there was business of importance to be transacted.

It was impossible for Dr. Dever to leave just at this time, and Dr. J. F. Shrontz and Frank C. Elliott of Martinsburg who are also interested in the plan left today for New York, carrying the papers and plans with them. The proposed route, from Newark through to Mt. Vernon by way of Martinsburg and Gambier, thence to Wooster has been surveyed.

The financing of the deal is all that has prevented the start of the work. For rights of way along the entire line have been secured and this call may mean that the deal may be financed and actual work commenced. The line would tap rich farm lands and would undoubtedly prove a paying proposition from the very start.

CHAIN LIGHTNING.

Whoa!
Go slow
There.
Take a chair
And loaf for awhile.
Not your style?
Great Scott!
I should say not.
Talk about time flying.
No use trying
To hit
The pace that it
Uses every day.
Say,
It only seems a minute ago
Or so
That the new year
Was here
Fresh young and fair.
Where are you now?
Wow!
It is old and thin
And all in
And
Its finish close at hand.
The bells are about
To ring it out.
Time certainly takes
The latest makes
In transportation
To reach its station.
With a light heart
And a flying start
It leaps across the line,
Making time
Time. Nor does it play
Along the way.
So
Days grow
Into weeks
Like red streaks.

PALMER'S RINGWORM Ointment

FOR MORE THAN TEN YEARS I was troubled with Ringworm. My head and face were literally covered. Tried many remedies but received no relief until I began using the Palmer "SUCCESS" Treatment, which cured me. Not a trace of the disease is left. —W. H. BEYERS, Adjutant Salvation Army, St. Johns, N. B.

Ringworm is a contagious disease of the skin produced by a parasite, forming small vesicular circles, which become dry and leave thin scales. Frequent bathing with "SKIN SUCCESS" Soap and applications of the Ointment will cure the severest case.

These 3 Great Cures comprise the Treatment: Ointment, 25c. and 75c., Soap, 25c. Remedy, 25c. (All 3 for 75c.) PALMER'S RINGWORM OINTMENT, 25c. and 75c. PALMER'S SOAP, 25c. PALMER'S REMEDY, 25c. (All 3 for 75c.)

EARLY HALLS

OF NEWARK DESCRIBED IN INTERESTING COMMUNICATION OF DR. C. P. KING.

Number of Reminiscences Which Will be Remembered by Our Older Citizens.

The early halls like the primitive taverns of our city and the early memories connected with them, should command no ordinary share of public attention. To me, at least, anything which has become historic, looking back as it were through the mists of a half century or more, always commands my love and deepest veneration.

Like the old medieval castles of Europe, which have become hoary with age, and which excite the love as well as admiration of the tourist of today, so do these old halls appeal to me with a feeling of interest as well as pleasure.

While it is true that most of the persons whose voices resounded with merriment within these old walls have long since passed from the stage of action, those who are left take an honest pride in recalling their scenes so indelibly impressed upon their memories.

The first and perhaps the oldest hall of early days in our city was what was then known as the old Apollo hall, which still stands in all its pristine glory on the canal on South Second street. This building to me when quite a small boy assumed mammoth proportions. It was in this old hall where all the leading entertainments of various kinds were held. It was considered a grand affair, and our people enjoyed it as much then as if it had been the size of our modern skyscraper. I recall one of the many incidents which occurred when I was a small lad. A lecturer from the East advertised to give a very scientific lecture in this old hall, his subject being "Mesmerism," a new and very interesting topic at that time. The hall was packed from pit to gallery with a very appreciative audience anxious to hear the new doctrine expounded. The lecturer was a man of some scholarly attainments, being possessed with a good deal of personal magnetism. After his lecture, which lasted about an hour, he then stated that there would be an opportunity extended for any one in the audience to step forward upon the platform and he would give a practical demonstration of his subject. Some boys who "up to snuff" and who had prepared for just this thing selected one of their number, Rod Dennis by name, to take the stand, and receive the shock. He was a great wag and played his cards in fine style.

After going through the usual preliminaries, such as striking his forehead and uttering some wild gibberish, the speaker stated to the audience that the young man was now fully under the mesmeric state, and that he was perfectly under his control and would do anything he wished him to perform. He placed him up against the wall and stated that he would retire into the next rear room and would call him and that he would at once obey. The audience in the meantime was waiting with bated breath. He called him in a loud voice several times before he would move a step and then went slowly along the stage in front of the audience and suddenly stopped and turning his face towards the lecturer placed his right thumb finger to his nose and exclaimed, "No you don't; I am not built that way if I know myself," and then jumped from the stage and ran through the audience to the rear of the building and escaped. There was great consternation in the hall and some of the audience were ready to throw the lecturer into the canal as they felt that he was a fake and mountebank. He, however, arose to the occasion and poured oil on the troubled waters, declaring that they were sometimes deceived in the persons when a practical joke was being perpetrated. The audience then calmed down and he continued his experiments and placed quite a number under the mesmeric spell.

I give this as a sample of the jokes perpetrated in early times.

There were two other old public halls which antedate the old Apollo hall. One of these was located over the old market house on West Main street. The other was located in a building called the old Palisade Row, in the building now occupied by Mr. Hermann, the clothier, on the west side of the square.

Another old hall is the old Temperance hall, corner of Second street and South Park Place. This hall contained what was then known as the Cary library, named after the Hon. Samuel

Cary, at that time a famous temperance lecturer. The lovers of temperance, a very large and influential body at that time, held their meetings here. It was also used as a lecture room. Lectures by public men both at home and from abroad were delivered in this hall. I recall two lectures, one by the Hon. Isaac Smucker and Father Blinder, the latter being a priest at the St. Francis de Sales Catholic church of this city. He was a man of fine presence and a very scholarly man.

The old Melodean hall, as it was then called, was in the old building where the old Bazaar now stands on North Park Place. This building was used for private as well as public dances. It was also a place for holding social gatherings. The old Patisserie hall where our new skyscraper now stands, built by one of our enterprising citizens, Mr. Adam Fleck, long since gathered to his fathers was considered a great acquisition to our city at that time, and was rented for concerts, plays of various kinds and public and private exhibitions. It was in this hall that I first had the pleasure of seeing Barnum's fat woman, the bearded woman and General Tom Thumb. I also saw the play entitled "The Burning of Moscow," a spectacular performance. This show straddled in our city and the scenery was confiscated for debt.

The old city hall, where the market house now stands, corner of West Main and Fourth streets, was used for many years as a place for public amusements, as well as church fairs and festivals. It was in this old hall that my class in the Newark high school gave the first play in public. The name of the play was "Maurice the Woodcutter." I had the honor of being one of the cast. We succeeded in procuring some scenes formerly belonging to a stock company which played "The Burning of Moscow." Through the kindness of our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. L. K. Warner, long since deceased, we obtained the footlight, drop curtain and all the scenery necessary to place the play on the boards in great shape. It was a great success financially. The local papers came out and denounced us in flaming headlines, and the board of education had their share of the blame for "running our schools into theatres," as they called it.

The opera house, located on West Main street, a beautiful hall, built by our much esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. George Wallace, who is still living, was at that time the finest hall of the kind ever built in our city. It was a modern opera house, thoroughly up to date in every particular and was an ornament to our theatre-going public. It was the leading place of resort for concerts, theatres and lectures and public gatherings for years.

Musical hall on West Main street was another hall built for public amusements and concerts. It had a large patronage for years and was a very popular place with many.

Shields' hall on South Park place was a pretty little hall. It was erected by our fellow-townsmen, Mr. William Shields, long since deceased. It was rather a small hall and was intended only for private dancing parties, as well as church socials. I remember on several occasions of appearing in this hall in a series of tableaux given for some benevolent object. One of these tableaux was entitled "Preparing Moser for the Fair." I, of course, considered it quite a swell affair, as I was one of the chief actors. These affairs always drew large crowds of cultivated people. All of these old halls of the past gradually gave way when our beautiful Memorial Hall was built in commemoration of our soldiers and sailors of our great civil war. It is a very beautiful as well as inspiring structure, built of brown stone. It stands on Second street. Within its beautiful enclosure is our spacious Auditorium, which was built for holding public gatherings, concerts, theatres and high school exhibitions. In this building are the large and spacious rooms where the Lerner post of the Grand Army of the Republic holds its monthly meetings. It was named Lemert Post in memory of the gallant Captain Lemert, who fell in the defense of his country during our late Civil war. The rooms are fitted up in fine style and contain many of the precious relics of the late war, such as swords and old battle flags captured during the war. It is within these sacred walls dedicated to our soldiers and sailors, both living and dead, that the survivors of that great struggle meet monthly around the old camp fires to renew old memories and sing old songs and talk over their old soldier life when in the field. This beautiful building will be a lasting monument to the generosity of our patriotic citizens who were willing to contribute their means towards building this noble structure. Long may it endure to perpetuate the grand and noble purpose for which it was erected. The nation which does not pay due honors to its defenders should perish. What nation has been more generous to its military as well as naval heroes, living as well as dead, than our own?

"How sleep the brave who sink to rest, By all their country's wishes blest." C. P. KING, M. D.

"When a woman is a belle she is something to adore," chuckled the chronic punster. "More than that, she may be a knocker," added the cynical Bachelor.

GRANVILLE

WIFE OF FORMER DENISONIAN PASSES AWAY AT ANDERSON, WEST VIRGINIA.

Seniors Who Will Participate in Commencement Program—Stock Sales Attract Crowd.

Granville, O., April 15—Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Allen Nettlesman, formerly Miss Alice Marsden, of Chester, Pa., where Mr. Nettlesman had been teaching during the past year at Anderson Academy, Anderson, W. Va. After Mrs. Nettlesman became ill she was taken to her home in Chester, Pa., where she died as the result of an operation. Mr. Nettlesman graduated in '03 and was a charter member of Beta Alpha Delta. He has the sympathy of all Denison friends in his bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Handley and little daughter, Ethel, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Granville, and vicinity, for some days, have gone to Columbus, where they will make a short visit before returning to their home in Cleveland.

The faculty have chosen the members of the Senior class who are to have a place on the commencement program. The ladies are Miss Lottie Grandstaff and Miss Eleanor Chaffee. They were selected some time ago, immediately after the contest for prizes, in essay. The young gentlemen who have been chosen are Theodore Johnson, Fred McArthur, Elmer Heater and Millard Lowery.

After a pleasant visit with friends in the village during the past week, Miss Ella Howard has returned to her home in Mansfield.

One of the most popular enterprises that has ever been instituted in Granville is that of the stock sale that are held in the big stable of Cack & Robinson, at the east end of the village. The last sale attracted buyers from all over the country, and many thanks were made. Doc Clemmons thinks it is the biggest thing Granville ever had.

"Jimmy" Adair of the class of '09, has been elected by the Board of Control to the position of baseball manager for this spring, made vacant by the resignation of Earl Bull.

Miss Lillian Marsden of Cincinnati, after a pleasant visit with friends here, has returned home.

Thomas George of Mt. Gilead, was in the village on business Tuesday.

Geo. Kauffman and L. H. Thompson, son of President Thompson of O. S. U., Columbus, visited here Sunday, the guests of Heime Ross.

HOLY WEEK AT ST. PAULS.

Last evening Rev. Thomas Warner of the Congregational church gave us a very edifying sermon. This evening Rev. H. C. Stuckenberg will preach. We look for a good attendance. Let us get ready for a gracious Easter by attending these preparatory services. At least 400 should partake of the Sacrament. The offering should be at least $200. A printed report of all the church members with the amount of their offering for Easter will be gotten out for distribution. See that you make a creditable showing. Thursday evening Rev. W. H. Wiesbeck of St. John's will preach for us. Be sure to attend.

25 per cent of all purchases made at Ross Emerson's between 8:30 a. m. and 10:30 a. m. on Saturday, April 18, will be given to The King's Daughters district nurse fund. 13d5t

WALK-OVER SHOE TEST

You may not know that sitting and standing in shoes is harder on the feet than is walking. On the feet, mind you, not on the shoes.

Sit, or stand in a pair of ill-fitting shoes and you'll find you "get tired without moving." It's the action of the shoe upon the foot.

But you won't find any feeling of this kind when wearing a "Walk-Over" shoe, because it is constructed to serve those of sedentary occupations as well as active walkers.

Put your best foot forward by slipping it in a "Walk-Over" shoe. Every size and every stylish last.

GOING TO HESITATE TO TRY A REAL INDIGESTION CURE?

Read Below Why the Worst Dyspeptic in This City Can Find Immediate Relief With These 22 Grain Triangles.

Miserable is the man or woman who suffers from dread indigestion or Dyspepsia. There are few diseases which create such misery, long drawn out suffering, as indigestion. It pursues them before meals, after meals and between meals, they take it to bed with them. It is with them wherever they go, though indigestion is the simplest disease of all to cure.

Tell such afflicted ones, dear reader, of the 22-grain Triangles of Diapiesin: urge the sufferer to go to any Pharmacy here and give 50 cents for a case, and to eat one like candy after the next meal. Such a sufferer would ever bless you, because five minutes after eating one Triangle there would be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, or heartburn, or fullness and discomfort, no belching of Gas or Eructations of Sour food, Debilitating Headache, Nausea, Water Brash and other symptoms of a sour, disordered stomach.

Pape's Diapiesin contains pure Aseptic Pepsin, one grain of which will digest without any assistance 3,000 grains of food; also Diastase, Pepsin, Calcium, pure Extract Cascar Sagrada, powdered Ginger and other ingredients making these Triangles harmless and taste like candy.

Diapiesin is a wonderful Stomach purifier and splendor to keep the intestines clean and fresh; then your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Just one 22-grain Triangle will digest more than 3,000 grains of food in the same way that a strong, healthy stomach would do it. Diapiesin will rest the stomach and increase the gastric juices; this is what is mostly needed—more, and better digestive juices—and no Gas—then indigestion and all stomach trouble will go, and there will be no further need of Diapiesin.

Each 50-cent case contains sufficient of these 22-grain Triangles to usually cure the most chronic dyspeptic and leave some for other members of the family who may need it for Gas on Stomach, Headaches or other disorders when they eat something which does not agree with them. A case ought to be kept in each home.

THE CANNON THAT MODERNIZED JAPAN

BY HERBERT KAUFMAN.

Business is no longer a man to man contact, in which the merchant and the patron establish a personal bond, any more than battle is a hand to hand grapple where bone and muscle and sinew decide the outcome. Trade as well as war has changed in its aspect—both are now fought at long range.

Just as a present day army of heroes would have no opportunity to display the individual valor of its members, just so a merchant who counts upon his personal acquaintanceship for success is a relic of the past—a business dodo.

Japan changed her policy of exclusion to foreigners after a fleet of warships battered down the Satsuma fortifications. The Samurai who had hitherto considered their blades and bows good enough, discovered that one cannon was mightier than all the swords in creation if they could not get near enough to use them. Japan profited by the lesson. She did not wait until further ramparts were battered to pieces but, satisfied with her one experience, she proceeded to modernize her methods.

The merchant who doesn't advertise is pretty much in the same position as that in which Japan stood when her eyes were opened to the fact that times had changed. The long range publicity of a competitor will as surely destroy your business as the cannon of the foreigners crumbled the walls of Satsuma. Unless you take the lesson to heart, unless you realize the importance of advertising, not only as a means of extending your business but for defending it as well, you must be prepared to face the consequences of a folly as great as that of a duelist who expects to survive in a contest in which his adversary bears a sword twice the length of his own.

Don't think that it's too late to begin because there are so many stores which have had the advantage of years of cumulative advertising. Newark is growing. It will grow even more next year.

It is not a question of your ability to stand the cost of advertising, but of being able to survive without it. The thing you have to consider is not only an extension of your business but holding what you already have.

Advertising is an investment the cost of which is in the same proportion to its returns as seeds are to the harvest. And it is just as preposterous for you to consider publicity as an expense as it would be for a farmer to hesitate over purchasing fertilizer if he discovered that he could profitably increase his crops by employing it.

DRUNKENNESS A CURABLE DISEASE

Eminent Physicians and Scientific Men Agree That it Should be Treated as Such.

Drunkennes is a progressive disease; the moderate drinker is not satisfied with two or three drinks a day, the craving for more and more becomes irresistible as the disease advances; the result is Chronic Alcoholism.

The treatment used successfully by thousands right in their own homes is Orlin. It is a scientific cure for Drunkenness and has given such universal satisfaction that it is sold under a positive guarantee to effect a cure or your money will be refunded. This guarantee is given in good faith and is carried out to the letter. Orlin is not a new remedy; it has been sold by the leading druggists in every city for years. It has lifted tens of thousands from the depths to worthy manhood and has the hearty endorsement of grateful men and women in every state in the Union.

Orlin No. 1 is the secret remedy; Orlin No. 2, is for those willing to take the treatment. Either form costs $1.00. The guarantee is the same in either case. Write to The Orlin Co., Washington, D. C., for free treatise on Drunkenness, mailed in plain sealed envelope. Orlin will be mailed sealed on receipt of price. Sold by the leading druggists in every town and city, and in this city by Frank D. Hall.

VIOLIN MUSIC BY MACHINERY.

MECHANICAL VIOLIN DEvised BY AN ENGLISHMAN

A mechanism called "Mills' Automatic Violoncello" was recently introduced in a London music hall. Mechanical steel fingers are brought to bear upon the strings of a violin, revolving disks taking the place of the bow and the mechanism is controlled by an ingenious arrangement of electro-magnets and a small motor, the result being, according to the inventor, a machine playing with all the skill of the human hand music unequalled for sweetness, harmony and volume of tone.

LICKING.

Miss Mary Nichols of Alexandria is visiting Miss Celia Hammond of this place.

Mr. Wilbur White and sister Gertrude of Bucyrus, Miss Bernice Brown of Granville and Mr. W. G. Larimore and family of Union Station spent Sunday at the home of J. R. Black.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Foster spent Saturday and Sunday in Port Washington as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Larimore.

Pastor Evans, William Lawyer and John Ruffner called on Mr. John Larimore at his home in Granville last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Larimore were received in full membership in the church Sunday morning.

Last Sunday evening Pastor Evans gave an instructive lesson from his chart on the "Origin of Satan." It was very instructive.

The Woman's circle of Licking church met with Mrs. Willis Lees last Thursday with quite a number of ladies present. The next meeting will be with Mrs. McCarty on the second Thursday in May.

SUBMARINES TO GO TO PHILIPPINES.

THE SUBMARINES PORPOISE AND SHARK ABOARD COLLIER CAESAR, WHICH WILL TAKE THEM TO THE PHILIPPINES.

New York, April 15—Hundreds of visitors went to the Navy Yard to look at the submarines Porpoise and Shark, which were hoisted to the deck of the collier Caesar, which will carry them to the Philippines.

From the bulkhead off dry dock No. 1, where the Caesar is moored the Porpoise and the Shark appear to dwarf the superstructure of the collier, so high do they project above the deck house. Landsmen as well as naval experts were speculating yesterday what would happen if the Caesar ran into a heavy blow while steaming to the Pacific.

Captain Easton, commander of the collier, said that every precaution had been taken to insure the safety of the Shark and the Porpoise, and that he did not believe they would be endangered by big waves or heavy blows.

to be leaders for the coming summer. They were in full swing during the first years of the last century and suit the fashions of the day perfectly. The loveliest of these shades are already here in fine wools, cottons and silks and in no end of chiffons, embroidered nets and tulle. Crepes likewise lend themselves to the new tints.

You will find a special array of beautiful hats for Easter at the Carnal Sisters, 15 West Church street. They have the popular sailor, besides hundreds of other stylish models.

The best things to eat obtainable are always at the Brillhart & Ellis grocery. Have you noticed their appetizing line of fresh vegetables?

The gingham and dimities display graceful designs and charming colors. The easily made house frocks are trimmed with bands of white linen or colored embroideries on white. Plain white embroideries make an effective finish stitched on colored ginghams.

They've an elegant line of those pretty sailors that are so stylish now at the Modern Millinery Parlors of Hickman & Gundy at 13 1-2 South Third street. They also have a great array of beautiful pattern hats that cannot fail to please the woman looking for a becoming hat for Easter.

Danish cloth in its several weaves will add a useful gown or two to the spring outfit. In creamy white it is not to be distinguished from the expensive canvas and goes into the wash tub coming out as good as new.

A sweetheart is the best known antidote for ambition in a woman. No girl yearns to espouse a career when there is an eligible man in sight.

Easter Sunday should be one of perfect satisfaction. It will be so if your feet are well shod. A pair of Linehan's Dorothy Dodd Shoes, or Armstrong shoes will do the work—because they are the most comfortable footwear made. They have handsome and stylish models now on show. You should surely see them.

The Philadelphia Press remarks that the big spring hat threatens to cut off the view of the peekaboo shirt waist this season.

"Take care of the corset and the gown will take care of itself." A perfect figure can lend grace and style even to a poorly fitted gown. A perfect figure, moreover, is not so hard to achieve in these days of skillful and scientific corset building, but the important point is the fit of the individual corset to the individual figure. We carry a complete line of the superb Henderson Corsets in this season's newest designs in medium and high bust, long flattening back and snug hip effects. Our salespeople have the knowledge, so we invite you to visit our corset department when you want the very best possible corset results. Satisfaction guaranteed. The Powers-Miller Co.

The ladies are all greatly interested in the toilet preparations being demonstrated all this week in Erman's drug store. There's no need for any woman to look old if she takes heed of the instructions being given there by Madam Adair.

There was a time when the hats worn reached dimensions even larger than now—when the crowns were higher, materials heavier, and the trimmings of uncomfortable weight; but a progressive note runs through the revived-old styles of centuries ago. The large hats for 1908 are light in structure, the trimmings airy.

The prettiest line of Easter booklets seen in recent years are those at Norton's. Better send some to your friends this week.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

I wish to say to all owners of dogs in the city of Newark, and those who harbor them, that it is not necessary that all dogs be muzzled, only vicious dogs. All dogs to be protected from the dog catcher should have a tag with the date of 1908. I make this statement because some persons have understood that all dogs must be muzzled. Notice To Owners And Drivers Of Automobiles

For the reason that complaints have been made to me concerning the fast running over the streets of Newark of some of these machines, I wish to call the attention of people who are careless about the speed they maintain, to the city ordinances regulating the same. The ordinance prohibits them running faster than eight miles per hour. Of course I do not wish to confine persons strictly to that rate of speed at all times, but they should and must be run under better control. It is only good luck that there has not been more accidents caused by reckless driving of these machines. HERBERT ATHERTON, Mayor.

Children Love Sweets

And the sweet they like best—of the sweets which are good for them—is pure Maple Sugar. That's why we boil our wheat, before flaking it, in the pure Vermont Syrup.

That flavor is most enticing.

We are making the best food for children, and we want them to like it. We want them to prefer the food that is best for them. And flavor does more than argument.

Maple-Flake is the best food for us all.

It is made of wheat—white Washington wheat—the premier food of the world.

It is prepared by a process requiring 96 hours, by which every atom is made digestible. That is the important fact. And it doesn't apply to any other wheat food.

Wheat is largely starch, and starch, to be digestible, must be made soluble.

The particles must be separated, so the digestive juices can get to them.

So we cook the wheat for six hours. Then thoroughly cure it. Then we flake each separate berry so thin that the full heat of our ovens gets to the center.

Then these flakes are toasted, for 30 minutes, in a heat of 400 degrees.

The result is a food that's all food. A food that will all digest.

There are other flaked foods—both corn and wheat—made by a process one-fourth as long as ours. They will cost you five cents less per package. But the difference is slight when you add the cream cost to both. And the difference in the process is 76 hours. Seventy-six hours spent to make the food more digestible. Every ounce of Maple-Flake means an ounce of nourishment.

Rev. Mr. Chapman Will Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon—Newsy Letter of Live Happenings.

Utica, O., April 15.—By reason of the large influx of glassworkers from Mt. Vernon from the closed Wuchne plant, all the Utica factories are now running with every place full and it begins to look as if Utica was to come into her own again. The entire force of skilled workmen suffered a cut of 14 per cent last week but they remained at work. The cut was due to a drop in the price of glass and it is thought that wages will be raised to normal before long.

DOCTOR USES D. D. D. IN HIS PRACTICE.

Eminent Physician Says This Great Liquid Prescription Is Certain Cure for Eczema.

Still another Eczema specialist comes forward in enthusiastic praise of D. D. D. Prescription, the wonderful external remedy which cures Eczema and other similar diseases like magic. He is Dr. C. B. Holmes of Silver City, Miss., and in summing up his impressions of the startling cures D. D. D. has effected, he says:

"I have been using your D. D. D. for four years with gratifying results. 'TIS AS NEAR A SPECIFIC FOR HERPES, ECZEMA, PSORIASIS, ETC., AS IS QUININE FOR MALARIA."

Dr. Holmes is one of hundreds of physicians who use D. D. D. in their daily practice. The D. D. D. company allows physicians to use this remedy without the understanding that they tell their patients what it was that cured them when the terrible itch has been wiped out, the skin healed and the raw wound covered over with soft white skin. D. D. D. is not a nasty paste to smear the skin and clothing, but it is a clear liquid. It is advisable to use D. D. D. soap in connection with D. D. D. Prescription.

Is any further proof of the curative powers of D. D. D. Prescription necessary? That remedy is sold at Frank D. Hall's drug store, North Park Place, Newark, O. Come in and let us show you convincing proof that D. D. D. will cure your skin disease. Even if you have not decided to use D. D. D. remedy, come in and explain your case anyway.

SCIENTIST WHO DISCOVERED CAUSE OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

PROFESSOR ROBERT KOCH AND HIS WIFE.

New York, April 15.—Prof. Robert Koch, discoverer of the bacillus of tuberculosis and the cholera germ, arrived here on the steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie on his first visit to America.

Dr. Koch, who has received the title of "Geheimrath" from the Kaiser in recognition of his scientific labors, is on a journey around the world for rest and recreation after arduous work in Africa, where he learned the cause of the "sleeping sickness" that kills thousands of natives in certain sections of the Dark Continent. He is to remain in New York until next Sunday morning and next Saturday night will attend a banquet given by the German Medical Society. Dr. Carl Beck president of the society, informed Dr. Koch that he had received a letter from Baron

Speck von Sternburg, the German ambassador at Washington, asking him to convey to Andrew Carnegie, who will be present, the personal thanks of the Kaiser for the philanthropist's services to science.

Although departing from his fixed custom in consenting to talk for publication, Dr. Koch modestly declined when seen by a reporter on board the ship to discuss his own scientific achievements at length.

"I am traveling now for pleasure and do not even wish to think of science," said Dr. Koch. "I shall go from New York to Niagara Falls, then to Chicago, where I have a brother, and then I want to push on to San Francisco as rapidly as possible. I shall take a ship there for Japan, which is the principal place I wish to visit."

NEWARK GIRLS ARE ANNOYED BY ALLEGED MASHERS

(Communicated.)

Two estimable young ladies who are employed in one of the big stores of Newark were on their way home last Saturday night when a "masher" rudely stepped up to them and inquired if he might accompany the girls home. His reception being chilly, the fellow used vehement and indecent language and the only reason he was not arrested was because the young women wanted to avoid the publicity attaching to their appearance in the police court.

Last evening a handsome woman walking along the public square was subjected to the impudent gaze of a number of loafers, one of whom on the west side made some highly improper remarks to his companions by referring to her appearance.

My observation is that this sort of thing is entirely too common and I suggest a way to stop it. Let the newspapers agree to print no names of complaining women and then the women will be free to appeal to the police for proper protection. A few doses on the stone pile will reach some of the men who annoy respectable women on the street that the practice is not profitable.

BLAME FOR OBSTRUCTION ON HOUSE

HISTORY OF LEGISLATURE'S FAILURE TO PASS PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

Provisions of Compromise Measure Which Senate Puts Up to the House.

(By Orwell C. Riddle.) Columbus, O., April 15.—(Special)

—This week opened with heavy work in the senate, and the house with plenty of business to do if it were disposed to do anything more than play politics.

Whatever agreement the senate reaches Tuesday afternoon on the compromise primary election bill is not expected to be final. Whether amended or not by the senate there will be an effort made to amend it when it goes to the house, in which event it will come back to the senate for concurrence in the amendments; and it is not only possible but altogether likely that the bill will go to a conference committee before all differences are harmonized.

It should be fully understood by the people of Ohio that it is the Democratic senate that is willing to pass a reasonable primary election law, and that the Republican house has been the real and only obstruction to such a consummation.

Republican newspapers have tried to make it appear that the Democrats have been the obstructionists. Hence I think it not only right but proper to state the facts once more to show how absurd that false charge is and to prove that the entire blame for failure to pass a primary election law long ere this rests entirely on the partisan and political pettyfogging Republican majority of the house.

This struggle began in the session two years ago when Representative Bronson (R.) of Franklin county introduced a primary election bill in the house, and Senator Huffman (D.) of Butler county introduced a primary election bill in the senate. The fight raged until the last day of the session, finally got to a conference committee which reached a final agreement the last day of the session too late for action before adjournment.

Both Mr. Bronson and Mr. Huffman introduced their bills this session. The Huffman bill passed the senate by unanimous vote Feb. 12 and was sent Feb. 14 to the house committee on elections, of which Mr. Bronson is chairman.

The house passed the Bronson bill Feb. 27, by a divided vote on both sides, two weeks after the Huffman bill unanimously passed the senate. Mr. Bronson being chairman of the house committee deliberately held up the Huffman bill to give his own bill right of way, instead of giving precedence to the bill passed by the senate. This is the whole cause of the deadlock, due to the personal jealousy of Mr. Bronson, and the pernicious partisan insolence of the Republican house toward the senate. The house deliberately ignored the action of the senate regardless of the fact that all the Republican senators in their seats Feb. 12 voted for the Huffman bill, and then had the impudence, (that was voiced in Republican papers), to assert that the senate was obstructing primary election reform, whereas the record shows that the situation was just the reverse.

The senate would have been justified in ignoring the insolence of the house to the hour of final adjournment. By all considerations of parliamentary courtesy, the house should have given precedence to the senate's bill after that body acted first. Finally Mr. Bronson resorted to a palpable trick about two weeks ago by pretending to report the Huffman bill to the house, but examination showed that in reality he reported under Mr. Huffman's name his own bill as it had already passed the house. Thus matters stood until members of the house and senate election committees got together voluntarily last week and fixed up a compromise measure by combining the main provisions of the two bills, which was reported to the senate as a substitute for the Bronson bill and bearing Mr. Bronson's name. Senator Huffman even yielded to Mr. Bronson the honor that goes with being the author of a measure because, he said, he is anxious to have a good primary election law whether it bears his name or not. Thus the senate yielded to the house on a question of priority and courtesy, and the Democratic senator whose bill received the unanimous endorsement of the senate, yielded to the selfish and jealous desire of Mr. Bronson to be the putative father of a primary election law if one be passed at all.

The compromise Bronson bill provides for compulsory primaries for the nomination of county, township and municipal officers at the same time by all political parties having at least 10 per cent of the total vote cast at the last general election. In even numbered years, when state and county elections will be held, the primaries shall be the third Tuesday in August, which would also require a later date for state conventions; in odd years, for municipal elections, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September, or about two weeks later than other years. Polls are to be open from 5:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. under the usual rules for regular election days. Nominations for candidates to be voted for at the primaries shall be made by petitions bearing at least 2 per cent of the party vote, such petitions to be filed with the local election boards, which will conduct the elections, canvass the vote and certify the result. State and district officers may be nominated by conventions made up of delegates selected by direct vote or by county conventions to which delegates are elected by direct vote. Expression of a choice for United States senator is to be optional. Heavy penalties are provided for illegal voting, party affiliation being governed by votes at general elections, not at municipal elections. Space will not permit a recital of all the minor details.

For some unexplained reason no action of any kind has been taken on the dozen omnibus bills prepared by the state codifying commission, which consists of former Governor Campbell, former state Secretary Laylin and Judge Sibley. This commission was appointed by the governor in response to a resolution adopted by this legislature two years ago, and has been at work almost two years on the laws relating to various state offices and departments, at considerable expense to the state. Each member of the commission is compensated at the rate of $5,000 per year, and there is the additional expense of the commission's clerical force. Before these bills were submitted they were examined and approved by the officers affected, but all are still in the committees to which they were referred. The commission has not had sufficient time to prepare a complete revision and codification of the statutes as was contemplated, and there was some talk at the opening of the session in favor of extending the commission's time another year, but the matter seems to have been lost sight of entirely or is being purposely ignored.

The Sites bill to license hunters, which has passed the senate, will be one of the first to come up in the house this week, with indications of vigorous opposition. It provides that a resident of the state shall procure a license to hunt, for a fee of $1, non-residents to be charged $10 for the same privilege, these licenses to be obtained from the county clerk. The purpose of the bill is to protect birds and game against alien hunters, who are disposed to disregard the game laws. Representative Eley of Ashland suggests that in addition to the license a hunter be furnished a tag to be worn in full view while hunting, as a means of recognition that would obviate some embarrassment both on the part of the hunter and the owner of the premises when they meet.

Railway companies have been pestered by petty thieves who steal brass fixtures from cars and engines and sell their loot to junk dealers which, under the present law, is only a misdemeanor. Such thefts have been known to be the cause of disastrous wrecks to freight trains, and one very bad passenger wreck in Ohio, where the wrecked freight cars piled up across the track immediately in front of an oncoming passenger train with no time to give a warning, was traced to this cause. The bill by Representative Miller of Crawford county passed by the house, which will doubtless pass the senate this week or next, makes that kind of stealing a felony subject to imprisonment from one to five years, and also makes the junk dealer who purchases pilfered parts of railway equipment participant criminally, subject to the same penalty.

County officials who have hoped to have their terms extended may as well abandon hope of any such result this session. The house has declared itself in opposition to all such proposals, and the senate emphasized its opposition to any change when it struck from the calendar the Pollock bill to make the term of prosecuting attorney four years instead of two and the Sites bill to extend the term of county recorder to four years.
